Motivation and Personality by Abraham H. Maslow
Abraham Maslow Personality Theory Explained. Abraham Maslow earned a doctorate in psychology from the University of Wisconsin in 1934. In the early days of his career, he worked with monkeys and noted that they tended to fulfill their needs in specific order of importance. As he observed how those monkeys met their personal needs, Maslow recognized that humans acted in a similar way.

Maslow Motivation Theory | the hierarchy of needs

At the time he wrote Motivation and Personality, Maslow believed that only a tiny percentage of the population was self-actualized, but that these few could change the whole culture. Given the impact of the idea on the 1960s counter-culturalists, a generation that has changed the world in its image, you would have to say Maslow was
